Dear Dean Xue,

MLS / HKU Doctoral Forum

Melbourne University Law School (MLS) and Hong Kong University Law School (HKULS) will host a workshop for Chinese and international doctoral students to focus on scholarly approaches to Chinese law, and 'new' developments in China scholarship. We would like to invite applications from your doctoral students to participate in this workshop.

More particularly, MLS and HKULS will host a two-day doctoral student workshop located at Hong Kong University on 23 and 24 October 2014. Up to 10 Chinese doctoral students will be invited to participate in discussion of ongoing research and academic exchange of ideas.

Workshop Format

The format of the workshop will provide each doctoral student an opportunity to present their research in an international forum in either Chinese or English. Formal presentations and comments will be followed by discussion and comments from expert academic commentators and fellow students attending the workshop.

Selection of Students

Doctoral students will be selected by an expert panel comprising academics from HKULS and MLS. For successful applicants based in China, travel and accommodation costs for 2-3 nights in Hong Kong will be covered by the organisers.

Call for Applications

We are now calling for applications from doctoral students at the Law School of China University of Political Science and Law.

We would be grateful if you would publicise this call for papers amongst your doctoral students, who should complete the application form below.
